Phang-nga is geographically covered mostly by mountains and forests, with an area of approximately 4,170.895 square kilometres and is located some 788 kilometres from Bangkok. The province is believed to have formerly been called 'Phu Nga' after the name of a hill 'Khao Nga' or 'Khao Phang-nga', which is located in the heart of the present Phang-nga town. Otherwise, it might have been named 'Phu Nga' to rhyme with 'Phuket'. However, how the name 'Phu Nga' became 'Phang-nga' as it is currently known is assumed to have been eroded by a mis-pronunciation by foreigners who came to purchase tin ore which used to be plentiful in the province. At that time, the name was spelled 'Phunga' or 'Punga' which could be pronounced 'Phu Nga', 'Phang-nga', or 'Phangka'.

Historical Background

According to Chronicles, before the Rattanakosin Period, Phang-nga was a district dependent to Takua Pa City. In the reign of King Rama I the Great of the Rattanakosin Period, it was upgraded to be of the same status as Takua Pa and Takua Thung and was transferred from the Harbour Department to be administered by the Defense Department. King Rama III, in wishing to restore outpost towns on the west coast that were attacked by Burmese troops, appointed a civil officer to rule the city and had it dependent directly to Bangkok. Phraya Borirakphuthon (Saeng Na Nakhon) was appointed the first ruler of Phang-nga in 1840. Later, Takua Thung was made a district dependent to Phang-nga. In the reign of King Rama VII, there was an economic recession, Takua Pa was made another district administered by Phang-nga province by the resolution of the Governors' Meeting of the Phuket Circle of 1931. Originally, the government centre of Phang-nga was located at Ban Chai Khai. Then, a city hall was constructed at Ban Thai Chang before a new one took shape near Tham Phung Chang and has stood there since 1972 until the present.

ATTRACTIONS

Amphoe Mueang Phang-nga

Phang-nga City (เมืองพังงา) is a simple and peaceful provincial district with magnificent mountains along the way. These mountains are covered with verdant green forests, lending the town a pleasantly cool atmosphere. It has clean streets with low-standing buildings that still reveal the beauty of natural scenery, ideal for visitors who prefer a simple vacation among nature. Before reaching the provincial town of Phang-nga, an elephant–shaped mount known as 'Khao Rup Chang', which is the province's symbol, can be seen from the distance.

Somdej Phra Srinagarindra Park (สวนสมเด็จพระศรีนครินทร์) is located on Khao Chang Road off Phetchakasem Road, diagonally opposite the City Hall. It is a scenic park where a bronze standing statue of the late Princess Mother is situated in the garden. People usually come here in the late afternoon for exercise and relaxation.

Tham Ruesi Sawan and Tham Luk Suea (ถ้ำฤาษีสวรรค์และถ้ำลูกเสือ) are located inside the Somdej Phra Srinagarindra Park. Tham Ruesi Sawan is in front of Tham Luk Suea. It is cool inside the cave, with stalagmites and stalactites and a clear stream running through. Tham Ruesi Sawan can be walked through from the front to the back before continuing on to Tham Luk Suea, a small cave where there are some stalagmites and stalactites and a herd of monkeys living in the front.

Sa Nang Manora Forest Park (วนอุทยานสระนางมโนราห์) is situated inside the Khao Thoi Nang Hong National Forest Reserve area in Tambon Nop Pring, covering a total area of 180 rai. It has a topography of limestone mountains lying in the Northeast – South direction covered with an evergreen or rain forest. The Park is very shady with large trees and a stream flowing by from the headwater forest on the mountain ridge down the valley to the plains. The different altitudes of the landscape result in many small waterfalls. Many economic plants are grown here; such as, Malacca teak, ironwood, and Champa Pa – Magnolia elegans. Its fauna include Sumatran serow, monkey, langur, bear.

Interesting Attractions within the Forest Park :

Namtok Sa Nang Manora (น้ำตกสระนางมโนราห์) features a medium–sized pond and a small waterfall with water all year round.

Tham Plueak Hoi (ถ้ำเปลือกหอย) is a medium–sized cave located 1,300 metres from the Park's headquarters. It houses a shell cemetery with a sloping trail for an easy walk.

Tham Khi Khangkhao (ถ้ำขี้ค้างคาว) is located 2,300 metres from the Park's headquarters and of a larger size than Tham Plueak Hoi. It is a habitat of a large flock of bats, with a not so steep trail suitable for walking.

Tham Kaeo (ถ้ำแก้ว) is 3 kilometres from the Park's headquarters and 1,500 metres from Tham Khi Khangkhao, but more spacious. It houses beautiful stalactites and stalagmites but a guide will be needed for the walk.

In addition, the Park also provides a nature trail with natural interpretation signs of its flora and fauna along a distance of 2 kilometres, taking approximately 1 hour. No guide is needed.

Accommodation: there is no accommodation available but a camping area is provided. However, visitors have to bring their own tents, sleeping gear, and camping equipment.

There is a restaurant in the park, which is open during 9.00 a.m. – 4.30 p.m. For more details, please contact the Head of Sa Nang Manora Forest Park, Tambon Nop Pring, Amphoe Mueang Phang-nga, Phang-nga 82000.

To get there : from Phang-nga, take Highway No. 4 (Phetchakasem Road) via Tambon Nop Pring. The Park is approximately 4 kilometres from the provincial town. Turn right for another 4 kilometres at the direction sign.

Tham Phung Chang (ถ้ำพุงช้าง) is located within the precincts of Wat Prachim Khet, behind the City Hall on Phetchakasem Road. It is a large grotto in the heart of Khao Chang. The part that is called "Phung Chang" or "elephant's belly" features a wonder of nature in the form of picturesque stalagmites and stalactites. Visiting Tham Phung Chang is a soft adventure tourism activity. Visitors will have to wade through water and ride a raft and canoe in order to get inside to admire the naturally-created stalagmites and stalactites, which are of various amazing shapes not to be seen anywhere else. Among the magnificent formations are the ones that feature hundreds of elephants walking one after another to form a circle, an elephant sitting under the Chatra umbrella, and a golden ladder that sparkles in the light. The air inside is cool and well-ventilated. Visiting Tham Phung Chang will take approximately 1½ hours. Interested visitors may contact the Thong Thae Sea Canoe Company Limited at Tel. 0 7626 4320, 0 7641 2292, 08 6683 6844.

Phang-nga Wildlife Breeding Centre (สถานีเพาะเลี้ยงสัตว์ป่าจังหวัดพังงา) (diagonally opposite the Telephone Organisation of Phang-nga) near Km. 33 on Phetchakasem Road, Tambon Tak Daet. The Centre breeds rare and endangered species of wild animals such as red-whiskered bulbul, Oriental pied hornbill, barn owl, brahminy kite, golden pheasant, green peafowl, and Indian peafowl. There is also Sumatran serow, porcupine, gibbon, monkey, banded langur, bear, and duck. It is open daily during 8.30 a.m. - 4.30 p.m. Admission is free. A group visit with a guide is available by written appointment addressed to the Head of the Phang-nga Wildlife Breeding Centre. For further details, please contact the Phang-nga Wildlife Breeding Centre at Tel. 0 7641 3261.

Ton Pariwat Wildlife Sanctuary (เขตรักษาพันธุ์สัตว์ป่าโตนปริวรรต) is located in Tambon Song Phraek and covers a total area of 160 square kilometres (100,000 rai) of shady flora. It also contains Namtok Ton Pariwat or known among the locals as "Namtok Song Phraek" which is 100 metres from the Sanctuary's headquarters. The waterfall is not very high with a pond down below where there is still some deposits of ores. In the rainy season, the water gushes down. The Sanctuary provides a 2-kilometre nature trail with Bua Phut – Rafflesia kerrii, a plant species with the world's largest flower of approximately 80 centimetres in diameter, along the route. The plant grows as a parasite on the root of a vine known as Yan Kai Tom. Its flower has 5 reddish brown petals. It is rare and to be found only in a fertile forest. It blooms towards the end of the rainy season around October. Along the route, there are traces of old mines, bird-watching spots that indicate the fertility of the forest, Namtok Hin Phoeng which is a watershed, etc. A guide is needed for trekking along the trail, which takes about 1 hour. At present, a package tour is offered by travel agencies to include trekking on an elephant's back through intact forests along both sides of the stream, and rafting for fun and excitement for adventure lovers, which takes about 45 minutes and available throughout the year. For further details, please contact:

Ao Phang-nga National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติอ่าวพังงา) covers a total area of approximately 400 square kilometres (250,000 rai) in Amphoe Mueang Phang-nga, Amphoe Takua Thung, and Amphoe Ko Yao. It is Thailand's second marine national park where most of the area is sea water and islands of limestone mountains of different shapes and beauty. It is also the home of mangrove forest and a breeding area of marine animals. It was declared a national park on 29 April, 1981. December to April is the most appropriate period to visit the Park whereas May to October is the period of heavy rainfalls and strong waves.

Interesting Attractions within the National Park :

Ko Panyi (เกาะปันหยี) is a small island with a plain of approximately 1 rai and 200 houses. Most of the dwellers are Thai Muslims, earning their living by fishing and selling souvenirs and food to visitors. There is a school and public health centre, as well.

Ko Phanak (เกาะพนัก) is a beautiful island with stalactite and stalagmite caves and a small tiered waterfall inside.

Khao Phing Kan (เขาพิงกัน) is an island on the beach that derives its name from the fact that a stone mountain split in two and the smaller part slid down, so that its base was buried into the soil while the top parts still lean against each other. The scenery behind Khao Phing Kan is very picturesque with "Khao Tapu", otherwise known as "James Bond Island" is seen in the sea in the background, looking like a nail – Tapu – stuck into the water. Admission for climbing Khao Phing Kan is 200 baht for adults and 100 baht for children.

Khao Ma Chu (เขาหมาจู) is on the way to Ko Panyi and looks similar to a dog, with a head, body, and a hairy tail.

Khao Khian or Rock Paintings (เขาเขียนหรือภาพเขียนสี) is on the way to Ko Panyi and houses rock paintings on the cliff of various animals believed to have been painted by sailors who moored their ships here to take shelter from the monsoon. According to the Fine Arts Department, the paintings are at least 3,000 years old.

Tham Lot (ถ้ำลอด) is a mountain similar to Ko Thalu. The opening of the cave is approximately 50 metres wide and 40 metres high, through which a small boat can sail to the other end of the cave. There are weird stalactites on the cave's ceiling.

Ko Hong (เกาะห้อง) features undulated hills hugging the sea, looking like a large chamber with 2 doors and housing beautiful coral reefs.

Ko La Wa Yai (เกาะละวะใหญ่) A small island surrounded by white sandy beaches, Ko La Wa Yai is located 2 hours by boat from the National Park's office. It takes about 30 minutes to walk around the island, which boasts crystal clear waters and a shallow reef - an ideal place for leisure and camping.

To get to Ao Phang-nga National Park: By car, the Park is approximately 8 kilometres from the provincial town. Take Highway No. 4 and turn left for some 4 kilometres into Highway No. 4144 until reaching the Customs Checkpoint Pier. A boat for rent is available from the pier. Otherwise, take a Song Thaeo from the provincial town to the Customs Checkpoint Pier. This is available daily.

Amphoe Khura Buri

Mu Ko Similan National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติหมู่เกาะสิมิลัน) covers a total area of 128 square kilometres (80,000 rai) in Tambon Ko Phra Thong and was proclaimed a national park on 1 September, 1982. The word "Similan" is in Yawi or Malay, meaning Kao or nine, referring to an archipelago of 9 islands. Similan is a small archipelago in the Andaman Sea comprising a total of 9 islands lying in the North – South direction, including Ko Huyong, Ko Payang, Ko Payan, Ko Miang (twin islands), Ko Payu, Ko Hua Kalok (Ko Bon), Ko Similan, and Ko Ba-ngu. The Park's headquarters is located on Ko Miang where freshwater is available. This archipelago is renowned for its on land and underwater beauty with an abundance of marine life. It offers ideal spots for both snorkelling and scuba diving where coral reefs as well as rare and colourful fish are to be admired such as manta ray, whale, dolphin, Moray eel, clown fish, etc. The most suitable period for visiting the national park is between November and April. May to November is the season of the Southwest Monsoon when the area is very windy and wavy and dangerous for sea transportation. During this period, the islands will be closed for the nature to restore itself.

Interesting Attractions within the National Park :

Ko Similan or Ko Paet (เกาะสิมิลันหรือเกาะแปด) is the largest island in the Similan Archipelago. It features a horse-shoe curve bay with white powdery beach and clear sea ideal for swimming. There are beautiful coral reefs underwater including staghorn coral, leaf coral, brain coral, large mushroom coral, sea fan, lobster, and various kinds of breathtakingly colourful fish. This island offers ideal spots for both snorkelling and scuba diving. To the north, there are large rocks of weird shapes such as a boot or head of Donald Duck and a sailboat rock where a panoramic view of the sea can be admired.

Ko Ba-ngu or Ko Kao (เกาะบางูหรือเกาะเก้า) is a small island with boulders of various shapes, especially at the diving spot 'Christmas Point' which is a large beautiful submerged rock that expands for a wide area. There are intact coral reefs and sea fans in the area, which also serves as a habitat for several kinds of fish such as ribbon eels, silvertip shark, brown spotted grouper, sand goby, mantis shrimp, etc.

Ko Hua Kalok – Hin Pusa or Ko Chet (เกาะหัวกะโหลก-หินปูซ่าหรือเกาะเจ็ด) looks like a skull – Kalok in Thai – and offers the underwater beauty of an undersea valley inhabited by soft corals, colourful sea fans, and schools of fish, and is where a Manta ray or whale shark can be mostly found in the archipelago.

Ko Huyong or Ko Nueng (เกาะหูยงหรือเกาะหนึ่ง) is a large island with the whitest and longest beach among the 9 islands. Sea turtles usually come to lay their eggs here during November to February as attested by small caterpillar track-like traces left on the beach.

Ko Miang or Ko Si (เกาะเมี่ยงหรือเกาะสี่) is the second largest island next to Similan and is where the Park's headquarters is situated and freshwater is available. Ko Si houses white powdery sands and crystal clear sea, and is a habitat of rare animals like the hairy leg mountain crab that has a red body, bluish black claws, and cries like a cock, to be seen in the evening when they come out to find food; Nicobar pigeon, a large endemic bird species of the same family as the rock pigeon, with beautiful colours and patterns on their body, to be seen along the beach or at food shops in front of the Tourist Service Centre; and hermit crabs, that are abundant in both large and small sizes.

Around the national park, there are also popular diving spots including scuba diving spots such as Ko Ta Chai in the northernmost part of the Park where great barracuda, angel fish, Manta ray, and whale shark can be found; Ko Bon to the northeast of Mu Ko Similan where whitetip shark, Manta ray, and leopard shark can be found; Christmas Point Rock where blue ribbon eel and mantis shrimp are to be seen; Fantasy Rock to the west of Ko Paet, habitat of anemone reefs, corals, sea fans and various forms of marine life, and snorkelling spots including Ao Luek, Ao Kwang Eng, etc. For diving activities, please contact diving companies in Phuket and Phang-nga provinces.

To get to Mu Ko Similan National Park :

- Thap Lamu Pier, Amphoe Thai Mueang, 70 kilometres from the provincial town along the Phang-nga – Takua Pa route, is the nearest pier to the national park with a distance of approximately 40 kilometres. From Thap Lamu Pier, it takes 1.30 hours (speed boat) to reach Mu Ko Similan. A speed boat for rent is also available in various sizes. The one for 30 persons charges about 38,000 baht and for 40 persons charges between 40,000 - 45,000 baht. Near the Thap Lamu Pier, there is an office of the national park. Visitors travelling to Mu Ko Similan may contact Met Sai Tour at Tel. 0 7644 3276, 08 1893 8042 and Jack Similan Travel at Tel. 0 7635 5410-2, 0 7621 9391-2, 08 9874 2314 or www.jacksimilan.com. - Khura Buri Pier, Amphoe Khura Buri, 70 kilometres from Mu Ko Similan. The journey takes 3 hours. To rent a boat, please contact Khura Buri Green View Resort at Tel. 0 7647 2070-3.

Accommodation: The Park provides 5 bungalows, each with 5 rooms, each room for 2 persons, at 1,000 – 2,000 baht. A row house with 20 rooms is also available, each room for 2 persons, at 2,000 baht. A tent for rent is provided at 570 baht each. A camping site fee of 80 baht / night is required for visitors who bring their own tents. Admission to the national park is 400 baht for adults and 200 baht for children. For more details, please contact Mu Ko Similan National Park, 93 Mu 5 Ban Thap Lamu, Tambon Lam Kaen, Amphoe Thai Mueang, Phang-nga 82210, Tel. 0 7642 1365, On land Office: Tel. 0 7659 5045, or National Park, Wildlife and Plant Conservation Department Tel. 0 2562 0760 or www.dnp.go.th.

Mu Ko Surin National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติหมู่เกาะสุรินทร์) is an archipelago in the Andaman Sea located approximately 70 kilometres off the western shore. It is next to the Thailand – Myanmar border, covering a total area of approximately 135 square kilometres (84,375 rai) out of which about 32.95 square kilometres (20,594 rai) is an on land area. The Park comprises 5 major islands; namely, Ko Surin Nuea, Ko Surin Tai, Ko Khai (Ko Torinla), Ko Klang (Ko Pachumba), and Ko Ri (Ko Satok). It was proclaimed a national park on 9 July, 1981, and includes islands with beautiful coral reefs in the shallows and various schools of fish of different colours. It offers ideal spots for snorkelling to admire coral reefs in the shallows, especially at Ko Torinla and Ko Pachumba. An ideal spot for scuba diving is the Richeliu Rock, 10 kilometres to the southwest of Ko Surin. This is a site of fertile undersea nature, habitat of various kinds of fish, colourful corals, and where whale shark, the kind Giant of the Sea, is frequently encountered. The most suitable period for a visit is between November and April whereas from May to October is the period of monsoons when there are heavy rainfalls and windy wavy sea.

Interesting Attractions within the National Park :

Ko Surin Nuea and Ko Surin Tai (เกาะสุรินทร์เหนือและเกาะสุรินทร์ใต้) are two attached islands separated by a water channel. There are both large and small bays scattered around the islands, all with distinctively beautiful beaches and sea water. Ko Surin Nuea is where the Park's Ranger Station is located. There is a Tourist Service Centre, bungalows, camping site, and long-tailed boats for rent to visit various islands.

Ao Chong Khat (อ่าวช่องขาด) is located south of Ko Surin Nuea and has a camping spot on a clean white sandy beach suitable for swimming. There are also coral reefs and various kinds of fish such as the colourful parrotfish and wrasse.

Ao Mae Yai (อ่าวแม่ยาย) is also south of Ko Surin Nuea and offers a bay of calm sea. It is the largest island in the Surin Archipelago with coral reefs in the shallows.

Ao Sai En (อ่าวไทรเอน) is situated east of Ko Surin Nuea, with boat people known as Chao Le or Mogen People living their simple and folk way of life. They believe in Indian icons carved out of wood which are regarded as their sacred items. During the full moon day's period of April every year, they will gather to pay respect to their revered spirits for 3 days.

Ao Luek (อ่าวลึก) is to the southeast of Ko Surin Nuea and offers coral reefs in the shallows, seaweeds, anemones, sea fans, schools of clown fish, and various kinds of colourful fish.

Ao Chak (อ่าวจาก) is to the north of Ko Surin Nuea and offers a white powdery beach and snorkelling spot to admire coral reefs in the shallows.

Ao Mai Ngam (อ่าวไม้งาม) is to the west of Ko Surin Nuea next to the headquarters bay. It is a large bay with a long curving beach, beautiful coral reefs, and various kinds of colourful fish. Moreover, there is Ao Mai Ngam Nature Trail through an evergreen forest along the beach, with nature interpretation signs along the 2-kilometres route, taking approximately 1 hour. Along the route, various species of wildlife and flora such as mouse deer, flying lemur, and rare birds like Nicobar pigeon and pied imperial pigeon can be seen.

Ao Bon (อ่าวบอน) is located east of Ko Surin Tai and inhabited by another group of the Mogen or Chao Le people.

Ao Tao (อ่าวเต่า) is located east of Ko Surin Tai and a habitat of a large number of sea turtles near the coral reefs. It offers a snorkelling spot to view soft corals and sea fans.

Ao Phak Kat (อ่าวผักกาด) is to the south of Ko Surin Tai and offers a snorkelling spot to view staghorn coral reefs, and also a scuba diving spot.

Ao Suthep (อ่าวสุเทพ) is to the north of Ko Surin Tai and offers a snorkelling spot to view beautiful coral reefs.

Ko Pachumba or Ko Klang (เกาะปาจุมบาหรือเกาะกลาง) is situated north of Ko Surin Tai and offers clean white powdery beaches and intact coral reefs where Manta rays, various Si Phang-nga National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติศรีพังงา) covers a total area of 153,800 rai of the Khao Nom Sao Range, which is a national forest reserve located in Amphoe Khura Buri and Amphoe Takua Pa. It features intact moist evergreen forests. Major flora include Yang – Dipterocarpus alatus, Takhian Thong – Hopea odorata, various species of palms, Kapho Nu – Licuala triphylla, staghorn fern, orchids like lady's slippers and Ueang Ngoen Luang – Dendrobium formosum. It also serves as a natural habitat for different species of fauna and birds such as Malayan tapir, Sumatran serow, banteng, barking deer, tiger, hornbill, Asian fairy-bluebird, helmeted hornbill, soro brook carp, Blyth's giant frog, etc. It has a longer rainy season than summer, with rainfalls almost all year round during May and December. It was declared a national park on 16 April, 1988, and established as a park in honour of His Majesty the King on the Auspicious Occasion of His Majesty's Fifth Cycle Birthday Anniversary.

Interesting Attractions within the National Park :

Namtok Tamnang (น้ำตกตำหนัง) is 1 kilometre from the Park's headquarters and 500 metres from the parking area. It cascades down a cliff of 63 metres high with water running all year, especially in the rainy season. The surrounding area is very shady with large trees; and the stream is inhabited by soro brook carp. There is a nature trail of 2 kilometres along a steep route, which takes approximately 3 hours. A guide is needed.

Namtok Ton Ton Toei (น้ำตกโตนต้นเตย) is straight along the left branch road before reaching the checkpoint at the entrance to the Park's headquarters. The waterfall cascades down a stone cliff of 45 metres high. The head of the waterfall is accessible by a 1-kilometre route along which there are viewpoints to admire the Park's fertile forests and mountains. A return trip on foot takes approximately 3 hours. It is recommended to stop for a rest at Namtok Ton Ton Toei Noi which is about 10 metres along the route. A guide is needed.

Namtok Ton Ton Sai (น้ำตกโตนต้นไทร) cascades down a boulder of 20 metres high. Its surrounding area is covered with Sai or banyan trees and beautiful rocks. It is accessible by the same route leading to Namtok Ton Ton Toei but is located some 500 metres beyond.

In addition, there are other tourist attractions of interest such as

Namtok Suan Mai (น้ำตกสวนใหม่), a cool and shady waterfall with water all year;

Thung Chali (ทุ่งชาลี), a vast field of approximately 2,000 rai that serves as a feeding ground for various kinds of fauna and home of a large number of birds – camping is allowed here but visitors will have to bring their own tents;

Saphan Phra Aram (สะพานพระอร่าม), a stone bridge of 25 metres long constructed across the river by tin miners in former times, only traces of the stone pillars remain at present.

Ko Phra Thong

Admission to the park is 100 baht for adults and 50 baht for children.

Amphoe Takua Pa

Talat Yai Takua Pa (ตลาดใหญ่ตะกั่วป่า) is situated at Ban Talat Yai, Amphoe Takua Pa, and is a former location of Mueang Takua Pa, an old port town in the Ayutthaya period. It used to be very prosperous many decades ago. This large market is interesting for its beautifully constructed Sino-Portuguese buildings. In former times, a large number of Chinese came to work in tin mines and settled here.

Fortress Wall (กำแพงค่าย) was built by Phraya Senanuchit (Nut), a former governor of Takua Pa, to enclose his residence. It was a model of a fortress wall built from a mixture of gravel, sand, and cement, measuring 58.5 cetimetres thick and 3.8 metres high, not a conventional brick and cement wall. Its shape is rectangular, measuring 95 metres wide and 158 metres long. It was told that when there was a fight between two Chinese Ang Yi or rackets in Takua Pa in 1981, the people came to seek shelter from the fighting inside this fortress wall. The defeated group also took shelter here. Phraya Senanuchit instructed the gates of the fortress to be closed and he himself, armed with swords, took command of the defensive fight on the battlement at the front of the fortress. Unfortunately, the southern part of the wall on Udom Thara Road has been demolished for a distance of 20 metres in order to widen the road. The wall is now the property of the Na Nakhon Family.

Hat Bang Sak (หาดบางสัก) is in Tambon Bang Muang on Phetchakasem Road, the Thai Mueang – Takua Pa route. The beach is 100 metres off the highway on the left between Km. 76 – 77. Hat Bang Sak offers a long stretch of white sandy beach running parallel to a line of shady pine trees. It is suitable for swimming. The locals as well as tourists usually come here to admire the setting sun. Accommodation and food shops are available on the beach.

Namtok Ton Chong Fa (น้ำตกโตนช่องฟ้า) is 28 kilometres from Amphoe Takua Pa. It is part of the Khao Lak – Lam Ru National Park, located 5 kilometres from the Park's headquarters along Phetchakasem Road (the Takua Pa – Khao Lak route). From Takua Pa, turn left at Ban Bang Niang for 5 kilometres toward Wat Phanat Nikhom. There is a stream originated from Khlong Bang Niang and cascades down into a 5-tiered waterfall, with water running all year. Its surrounding area is shady and provides home to rare animals like Malayan tapir, hornbill.

Khao Lak Seaside (ชายทะเลเขาหลัก) is located 32 kilometres from Amphoe Takua Pa. There is a wide sandy beach with rocks of different sizes. The atmosphere is relaxing and suitable for swimming. It is a nice place to admire the setting sun. It is also a location of many hotels and resorts with designs of accommodation and landscapes that blend harmoniously with the seaside ambience: serene and shady with pine trees and coconut groves on the beach. Opposite the entrance to the Park is situated Chaopho Khao Lak Shrine (ศาลเจ้าพ่อเขาหลัก), which is much revered by villagers.

Khao Lak - Lam Ru National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติเขาหลัก - ลำรู่) is located 33 kilometres. from Amphoe Takua Pa at Km. 59 on the right of Highway No. 4. It was established as a national park in August 1991 and covers a total area of 78,125 rai in Amphoe Takua Pa, Amphoe Thai Mueang, Amphoe Kapong, and Amphoe Mueang Phang-nga. The Park features undulating mountains including Khao Lak, Khao Saeng Thong, Khao Mai Kaeo, and Khao Plai Bang To. The mountains are covered with evergreen forests where several species of flora can be found such as Yang – Dipterocarpus alatus, Phayom – Shorea roxburghii, Malacca teak, Bunnak – Mesua ferria, Takhian Thong – Hopea odorata, Krabak – Anisoptera costata, etc. The highest mountaintop is about 1,077 metres above sea level and is the watershed of the province's major rivers including the Phang-nga and Takua Pa. Frequented fauna are Malayan tapir, Sumatran serow, monkey, langur, deer, barking deer, great argus pheasant, hornbill, woodpecker, bulbul, and hill myna. There are 5-kilometres and 7-kilometres Namtok Ton Chong Fa Nature Trails, taking about 2 and 5 hours, respectively. There are nature interpretation signs along the steep routes. A guide is needed.

Accommodation and tents are available. For further details, please contact the Khao Lak – Lam Ru National Park, Mu 7 Tambon Khuekkhak, Amphoe Takua Pa, Phang-nga 82110, Tel. 0 7648 5414 or National Park, Wildlife and Plant Conservation Department, Bangkok Office: Tel. 0 2562 0760 or visit www.dnp.go.th.

Laem Pakarang (แหลมปะการัง) is between Km. 78 – 79 on the Takua Pa – Khao Lak Road. From Takua Pa, turn right for 5 kilometres to reach the cape where there is a sandy beach with scattered broken staghorn corals. Swimming is available among the shady atmosphere of the pine trees. It is a nice spot for viewing the setting sun. There is also nice accommodation with a relaxing atmosphere nearby to serve tourist's choices.

Ko Kho Khao (เกาะคอเขา) Most of the island's topography features plains with shady pine and coconut trees and a white sandy beach stretching for several kilometres. The beach is suitable for swimming. Resorts, bungalows, and food shops are available on the island. To get to Ko Kho Khao, board a boat at Mu 2 Pier, Ban Nam Khem, Tambon Bang Muang, Amphoe Takua Pa. The trip takes about 15 minutes by a hired boat or ferry. Ferry service 150 baht/car from 7.00 a.m. – 5.00 p.m. There are also several other interesting tourist attractions on the island and nearby, such as:

Mueang Boran Ban Thung Tuek (เมืองโบราณบ้านทุ่งตึก) is located on a muddy sand area at Mu 3 Tambon Ko Kho Khao, Amphoe Takua Pa, between the end of Khlong Mueang Thong and that of Khlong Thung Tuek, where the mouth of the Takua Pa River is situated. The ancient town is called "Thung Tuek" due to the fact that there are remains of at least 3 ancient monuments believed to have been buildings – Tuek in Thai, or wihans, over the vast sandy ground of this area. Fragments of religious shrines and symbolic icons in Hinduism have been discovered. On the ground, there are surface finds such as potsherds of ceramic wares, Chinese ceramics, pottery, as well as other artefacts. According to archaeologists, Thung Tuek must have been a port town in ancient times.

Ko Pha (เกาะผ้า) is a small island located at Mu 4 Tambon Ko Kho Khao, some 10 kilometres off the coast. Its crystal clear sea and abundant coral reefs, as well as white and clean sandy beach make it a serene place suitable for relaxation.

Khlong Sangne or Little Amazon (คลองสังเหน่ หรือลิตเติ้ลอะเมซอน) The abundant Devil trees or Sangne in Thai gave this small river its name. Visitors can make a canoe or boat trip along the river and enjoy watching many animals and bird species, as well as, century-old Banyan trees that grow along the banks. This area is said to have slight environmental similarity to those in the Amazon rainforest of South America. Contact Mr. Ake, Tel. 08 6682 7922/Ms. Chorn, Tel. 08 9647 3701 / Mr. Suchart, Tel. 08 6940 4133, or Eco Khao Lak Adventure, Tel. 0 7648 5586-7.

Tsunami Memorial Park (สวนอนุสรณ์สถานสึนามิ) at Ban Nam Khem is constructed in an area of approximately 5 rai. Two walls were built along the memorial walkway. One side features wave-like curves with a black terrazzo surface. Visitors can look through the holes to see the fishing boat damaged by the tsunami. The other side features a slanting brick wall interspersed with ceramic tiles and names of the deceased engraved on bronze plaques mounted on the ceramic tiles – there were approximately 1,400 casualties. Visitors will also find souvenir shops made by the local people, seafood restaurants, and the Ban Nam Khem tour service. The Memorial is open daily from 8.00 a.m. - 5.00 p.m.

Khlong Sangne or Little Amazon

Police Boat 813 (เรือ ต. ๘๑๓) is another memorial to commemorate the tsunami. It is found at Mu 5, Ban Bang Niang, Tambon Khuekkhak, Amphoe Takua Pa. This 60-ton boat was anchored one nautical mile offshore and was thrust inland to the foothill when the tsunami hit.

Amphoe Kapong

Namtok Lam Ru (น้ำตกลำรู่) is part of the Khao Lak – Lam Ru National Park located in the area of the Kradai Range. It is a medium waterfall of 5 tiers, with water running all year. It is accessible by Highway No. 4090, 9 kilometres beyond Kapong District Office, and another 1 kilometres from Ban Lam Ru to arrive at the waterfall.

Wat Narayanikaram (วัดนารายณิการาม) is located at Mu 3 Tambon Le, approximately 14 kilometres from Kapong District Office on Highway No. 401 (the Takua Pa – Surat Thani route), with a right turn of 2 kilometres to the temple. This is where replicas of Narayana (Rama) and Lakshamana, as well as the original Sida (Sita – consort of Rama) images are enshrined. The original Rama and Lakshamana images are now exhibited at the Thalang National Museum, Amphoe Thalang, Phuket. In addition, an inscription stone of 1,300 – 1,400 years old was unearthed on top of Khao Riang inside the temple's precincts. These sculptures are related to the historical background of "Takola" (Takua Pa) and the introduction of Indian culture into this region.

There are also other waterfalls in the district where local people usually pay a visit for relaxation including Namtok Saeng Thong (น้ำตกแสงทอง), which is a small waterfall, and Namtok Hin Lat or Namtok Laeng Hin (น้ำตกหินลาดหรือน้ำตกแล่งหิน), a rocky waterfall with a clear stream.

Amphoe Thap Put

Namtok Tao Thong (น้ำตกเต่าทอง) is located at Mu 3 Tambon Bo Saen, 19 kilometres from Phang-nga provincial town and 8 kilometres before reaching Amphoe Thap Put. It is a waterfall that flows from inside a cave and down to a dyke where water is reserved for public use. The surrounding area is shady and suitable for swimming. Rental canoes are available for visitors.

Wat Rat Uppatham or Wat Bang Riang (วัดราษฎร์อุปถัมภ์หรือวัดบางเหรียง) is situated on Khao Lan in Ban Bang Riang, approximately 11 kilometres from Thap Put District Office on Highway No. 4118. The temple houses a bell-shaped chedi surrounded by niches of Buddha images. Wat Rat Uppatham is surrounded by forested mountains. The chedi was called "Phrathat Chedi Thepnimit" and renamed by His Majesty the King as "Phra Mahathat Chedi Phutthathambanlue". The temple also houses images of Kwan Yin – Goddess of Mercy – and Phra Phuttha-atthi Mongkhonchai Nak Prok – Buddha seated under the Naga's hood, which was cast and intended to protect the southerners from natural disasters.

Amphoe Thai Mueang

Khao Lam Pi – Hat Thai Mueang National Park (อุทยานแห่งชาติเขาลำปี — หาดท้ายเหมือง) Mu 5, Tambon Thai Mueang. It was declared a national park on 14 April, 1986, and covers a total area of 72 square kilometres (45,000 rai). The national park has 2 sections; namely, the Lam Pi Range which comprises a long stretch of mountains of mostly igneous rocks of 60 – 140 million years old, and Hat Thai Mueang. The Lam Pi Range features evergreen forests of plant species like Yang (Dipterocarpus alatus), Takhian Thong (Hopea odorata), Krabak (Anisoptera costata), ferns, rattan, bamboo, etc. The topmost peak is Yot Khao Khamin, which is 622 metres high. Hat Thai Mueang features white sandy beaches in the west and a mangrove forest in the east, where the Park's headquarters is situated. The fauna found within the Park include palm civet, sambar deer, red junglefowl, thick-billed pigeon, etc. Marine life includes stingray, mullet, flying fish, starfish, and small coral reefs.

Interesting Attractions within the National Park :

Hat Thai Mueang (หาดท้ายเหมือง) is in the Thai Mueag Sanitary District, with a right turn for 1.5 kilometres and another 5 kilometres along the beach to the location of the Park's headquarters. Hat Thai Mueang features a white sandy beach running parallel to the highway for a distance of more than 13 kilometres and crystal clear sea suitable for swimming. During November – February, sea turtles will come to lay their eggs on the beach. As such, there is an activity to watch spawning sea turtles on the nights of the waxing moon. During March every year when the eggs are hatched, the baby sea turtles will be released into the sea in a tradition called the "Sea Turtle Releasing Festival".

Thung Samet (ทุ่งเสม็ด) is a cajuput forest covering an area of 1,000 rai located in the middle of Hat Thai Mueang. It features white powdery sand.

Namtok Ton Phrai (น้ำตกโตนไพร) is a massive waterfall originating from Khao Ton Yan Sai. The surrounding forests are shady with large trees. To get there, from Amphoe Thai Mueang, take Highway No. 4 and turn right between Km. 28 – 29 for another 7 kilometres.

Namtok Lam Pi (น้ำตกลำปี) is a medium waterfall of 4 tiers originating from the Lam Pi Range. There is a large basin with water all year round. To get there, from Amphoe Thai Mueang, follow Highway No. 4 and turn right between Km. 32 – 33 for 2 kilometres.

Accommodation : The Park provides 8 bungalows for tourists, each accommodating 2 persons at 1,000 baht and tents for rent for 2-3 persons at 150 baht. A camping fee of 30 baht / person will be charged for visitors bringing their own tents. There are welfare food shops provided for tourists. For more details, please contact the Khao Lam Pi – Hat Thai Mueang National Park, Amphoe Thai Mueang, Phang-nga 82120, Tel. 0 7641 7206, E-mail: lampi_np@hotmail.com or National Park, Wildlife and Plant Conservation Department, Bangkok, Tel. 0 2562 0760 or visit www.dnp.go.th. There are toilet facilities and wheelchair ramps for the disabled.

To get there : From Phang-nga provincial town, follow the Phang-nga – Thai Mueang Road for 56 kilometres. Turn left at the Talat Thai Mueang Intersection for approximately 6 kilometres to arrive at the Park's headquarters. If travelling by car from Bangkok, take Phetchakasem Road via Amphoe Takua Pa and turn into the Takua Pa – Thai Mueang route for about 66 kilometres to arrive at the Talat Thai Mueang Intersection.

Ban Bo Dan Hot Spring (บ่อน้ำพุบ้านบ่อดาน) is located in Tambon Bo Dan, 43 kilometres from Phang-nga provincial town along the Phang-nga – Khok Kloi route. At Khok Kloi Intersection, continue straight on for some 2 kilometres and follow the direction sign by turning right for another 3 kilometres. The Ban Bo Dan Hot Spring belongs to The Hot Spring Beach Resort and Spa, and is surrounded by a beautiful and shady landscape. Warm mineral water whirling in the pond is suitable for soaking to relax, to get rid of stress, to heal joint and bone pains, to treat beriberi, as well as to nourish skin and hair. It is open daily during 8.00 a.m. – 10.00 p.m. Service fee is 400 baht. For more information, call Tel. 0 7658 0000 – 28 or visit www.thehotspringbeach.com.

Chulabhorn Marine Park Conservatory Centre (ศูนย์อนุรักษ์อุทยานใต้ทะเลจุฬาภรณ์) is situated inside the Third Fleet of the Royal Thai Fleet, Ban Thap Lamu, Tambon Lam Kaen. It was established by the Phang-nga Naval Base with an aim to provide knowledge about underwater resources for tourists and the public. It is a 2-storeyed building exhibiting the significance of natural resources, marine environment, and slide multi-vision presentation on the Andaman Underwater. The Centre is open daily during 8.30 a.m. – 3.00 p.m. Admission is free. Accommodation is also available; please call Tel. 0 7659 5170, 0 7659 5090.

Sea Turtle Nursery, Third Fleet of the Royal Thai Fleet (บ่ออนุบาลเต่า กองทัพเรือภาค 3) is near the Chulabhorn Marine Park Conservatory Centre. This is one of the important sea turtle nursery and breeding centres on the Andaman coast. Green turtle, hawksbill turtle, and Ridley's turtle are bred here. It is open on weekdays and during official hours.

Phang-nga Coastal Fisheries Research and Development Centre (ศูนย์วิจัยและพัฒนาประมงชายฝั่งพังงา) is located at 164, Mu 9, Amphoe Thai Mueang. It was established for research and development of coastal aquaculture, including Clown fish, Butterfly fish, Grouper fish, shrimp, and Wing Shell. The Centre also involves conservation of aquatic species; such as, giant clams and sea turtles. Leatherback turtle nesting grounds are located in front of the Centre. Their eggs are collected for captive incubation, hatching before being released back into nature. Open to visitors daily from 9.00 a.m. – 4.30 p.m. For more information, Tel. 0 7643 2212.

Amphoe Takua Thung

Wat Suwannakhuha (วัดสุวรรณคูหา) is located at Mu 2 Tambon Krasom, about 9 kilometres from Phang-nga provincial town on Highway No. 4 (the Phang-nga – Phuket route). At Km. 30, there is a paved road on the right leading for 1 kilometre to the temple. It is one of the province's important temples due to its historical and archaeological background. The temple is located on a mountain with a number of caves. Among them are Tham Yai, Tham Chaeng, Tham Muet, and Tham Kaeo. Tham Yai is on the lowest level and decorated with ceramic tiles and crockery throughout its length. This cave serves as a wihan where several Buddha images are enshrined. The most important one is the Reclining Buddha. In another cave, there are royal initials of kings and members of the royal family, such as King Rama V the Great, King Rama VII and Queen Rambhaibarni, King Rama IX the Great, etc. The area in front of the cave is the feeding ground of a large number of monkeys. Admission is 10 baht.

Namtok Raman Forest Park (วนอุทยานน้ำตกรามัญ) is located in Tambon Krasom within the area of the Khao Ton Din National Forest Reserve, covering an area of approximately 125 rai. The Forest Park features a medium-sized waterfall with water running all year. The waterfall was named "Namtok Raman" after the fact that a number of Mon or Raman people fled the Burmese troops to settle on its topmost level during the so-called 'Nine-army Battle'. Its headwater comprises mountain ranges covered with almost intact evergreen forests. The touristic area of the Forest Park features a medium-sized stream running from the watershed down to the valley. Various tiers of the waterfall result from the different elevations of the area that the stream flows by. There are also various species of fauna such as Sumatran serow, Malayan tapir – a reserved species of fauna. The Forest Park also provides a nature trail.

In addition to Namtok Raman, there are many other tiers of the streams such as Ton Tai (โตนใต้) – the lowest tier otherwise known as Tin Lang, Ton Khon Pak (โตนขอนปัก) – a medium basin with a certain depth suitable for swimming, Ton Ai Chun (โตนไอ้จุ่น) – similar to the second one and suitable for swimming all year round, Ton Klang (โตนกลาง) – featuring quite a high and beautiful cascade suitable for bathing underneath the falling water, Ton Hin Rao (โตนหินราว) – a very deep basin, and Ton Sao Ngam (โตนสาวงาม) – the last beautiful tier.

Accommodation : There are no bungalows provided except for a camping site. However, visitors will have to bring their own tents, sleeping gear and camping equipment. The welfare shop is open during 9.00 a.m. – 4.30 p.m.

To get there : By car, from Phang-nga, take Highway No. 4 (Phetchakasem Road) toward Tambon Krasom. It is approximately 11 kilometres from the provincial town with a right turn into the forest park 6 kilometres. By bus, a bus is available for a chartered trip at the market in Amphoe Mueang Phang-nga.

Tha Nun Seaside (ชายทะเลท่านุ่น) is located between the Sarasin and Thep Kasattri Bridges, connecting Phang-nga and Phuket provinces. From Highway No. 4, turn into Highway No. 402 and head toward Phuket. Near the Pak Phra Strait before reaching Phuket, there will be sand on both sides where turtles usually come to lay their eggs every year.

Amphoe Ko Yao

Ko Yao (เกาะยาว) covers an area of approximately 137.6 square kilometres. Most of its dwellers are Thai Muslim. Ko Yao comprises 2 main islands; namely, Ko Yao Noi and Ko Yao Yai. Interesting beaches and bays include:

Hat Pa Sai (หาดป่าทราย) is about 7 kilometres from the Ko Yao District Office which is located on Ko Yao Noi. It features a white sandy beach with shady trees, suitable for swimming. A scenic view of various islands of Krabi province can be seen.

Hat Tha Khao (หาดท่าเขา) is about 5 kilometres from the Ko Yao Noi District Office. The beach is dotted with pebbles of various patterns. Slightly off the shore, there are small islets that are accessible at low tide. These islets house forest trees and orchids.

Ao Ti Kut (อ่าวตีกุด) is on Ko Yao Yai and features a clean white beach. To the north, there is a cape with beautiful scenery. The shore is shady with pine trees.

Ao Khlong Son (อ่าวคลองสน) is on Ko Yao Yai and offers a clean white shady beach with pine trees. To the left, there are rocks and pebbles of beautiful colours. The inlet is suitable for swimming and diving to admire the coral reefs.

Ko Khai (เกาะไข่) an archipelago of 3 islets; Ko Khai Nok, Ko Khai Nai, and Ko Khai Nui, in which only the first two are accessible.

Ko Khai Nai (เกาะไข่ใน) boasts clear sandy beaches along the northern and western sides of the island. Scuba divers will enjoy the shallow coral reefs; such as, Tabulate and Disc corals, and colourful fish. The east side of the island also presents masterpieces created by the wind as stones are carved into an elephant head and 3 tortoises. Visitors can walk around the island. Tourist season is from November to April.

Ko Khai Nok (เกาะไข่นอก) consists of two islands looking like a fried egg in the middle of the ocean. There are small dunes connecting the rocks. In front of the island's white sandy beach and clear water with colourful fish is the perfect place for snorkelling. The island also has shops selling food and drinks.

To get there :

- From Phuket : Purchase a 1-day tour from Ko Si Re (Laem Hin Pier) or Ao Chalong Pier, which takes 15-20 minutes.

- From Phang-nga : Tourists can take a charter boat from Lo Chak Pier on Ko Yao Yai, which takes 30 minutes.

Tourism Activities

Tham Phung Chang (ถ้ำพุงช้าง) is located within the precincts of Wat Prachim Khet, behind the City Hall on Phetchakasem

Road. It is a large grotto in the heart of Khao Chang. The part that is called "Phung Chang" or "elephant's belly" features a wonder of nature in the form of picturesque stalagmites and stalactites. Visiting Tham Phung Chang is a soft adventure tourism activity. Visitors will have to wade through water and ride a raft and canoe in order to get inside to admire the naturally-created stalagmites and stalactites, which are of various amazing shapes not to be seen anywhere else. Among the magnificent formations are the ones that feature hundreds of elephants walking one after another to form a circle, an elephant sitting under the Chatra umbrella, and a golden ladder that sparkles in the light. The air inside is cool and well-ventilated. Visiting Tham Phung Chang will take approximately 1½ hours. Interested visitors may contact the Thong Thae Sea Canoe Company Limited at Tel. 0 7626 4320, 0 7641 2292, 08 6683 6844.

Namtok Ton Pariwat White-water Rafting (ล่องแก่งน้ำตกโตนปริวรรต) is another exciting and adventurous activity along large and small rapids of strong and rushing currents through verdant forests. This activity is available throughout the year. For more information, please contact :

Phuket Sea Land	Tel. 0 7622 2900, 08 6940 4463, 08 1893 9658.

Khlong Lam Ru Bamboo Rafting (ล่องแพไม้ไผ่คลองลำรู่) is another form of tourism activity available at the Khao Lak - Lam Ru National Park. Enjoy an adventurous experience riding on a bamboo raft along the cool water of Khlong Lam Ru through shady forests. The water is so clear that fish can be seen swimming. The rafting will zigzag along the rocky banks, which feature forests and orchards on both sides. Visitors may freshen themselves up by jumping into the water that is surrounded by a green environment. Rafting is available all year. For more information, please contact Eco Khaolak Adventure at Tel. 0 7648 5586-7.

EVENTS AND FESTIVALS

Sea Turtle Releasing Festival (งานประเพณีปล่อยเต่า) is scheduled to take place for 7 days in March every year. There will be celebrations, and the major activity is the release of baby sea turtles into the sea around Hat Thai Mueang.

Boat Floating Tradition (งานประเพณีลอยเรือ) is a tradition of the Mogen seamen living around Ko Surin held annually during April – May at the seamen village on Ko Surin Tai. The purpose of the tradition is to celebrate the spiritual poles of their ancestors. During this period, the Mogen people will stop other daily activities so that everyone can take part in the tradition. There will be a medium ceremony, paying respect to their ancestors' spirits, fortune-telling, playing music, dancing, and floating of the 'Kabang', which is believed to represent the floating away of suffering and illness from the family and community. Mogen people from nearby areas will come to participate in this tradition in order to pay respect to the spirits of their ancestors and request them for protection.

Phang-nga Vegetarian Festival (งานประเพณีถือศีลกินผักจังหวัดพังงา) is scheduled between the 1st – 9th days of the waxing moon of the 9th Chinese lunar month, which falls in September – October every year. During the festival, villagers clad in white will receive alms at Chinese shrines. Other activities include a fire-wading ceremony, a ceremony to pay respect to the stars for the 7 days of the week, ill fortune-dispelling ceremony, etc. There will be a procession of gods along the roads around the town as a token to give a blessing to the people.

Phang-nga Tourism Season (งานเปิดฤดูกาลท่องเที่ยวจังหวัดพังงา) is scheduled for the first week of November every year, which has been designated as the province's tourism week at Hat Nang Nong on the Khao Lak seaside. Other activities include merriment, cultural performances, exhibition on tourist attractions, water sports competition and folk games, booth display of local food, seafood at reasonable prices, and tour packages and accommodation at special rates, welcoming the return of the province's tourism season.

LOCAL PRODUCTS AND SOUVENIRS

TIPS FOR TOURISTS

Diving / Snorkelling

- Learn and get trained on how to use the diving equipment such as diving mask, fins, snorkel, life jacket, oxygen tank, etc.
- Always put on a life jacket before getting into the water.
- Admire the corals at designated spots only and be careful not to touch or damage any parts thereof.
- Diving is not recommended for weak persons or those with respiratory problems.
- Never collect corals, sea fans, shells or souvenirs made from them.
- Moor the boat where there are no coral reefs.

Rafting / Canoeing

- Study the regulations concerned and route before starting.
- Do rafting in the season when there is enough water and take along only necessary items.
- Put on a life jacket, safety helmet, and check the raft / canoe for safety.

Cruising

- Check the weather forecast and waves before starting.
- Choose an appropriate cruiser that is strong enough and can accommodate the required number of passengers.
- Contact a skilled navigator and follow his advice.

Trekking / Bird Watching

- Inquire for information/make reservations for accommodation at the Department of National Park, Wildlife and Flora, or the national park to be visited, 30 days in advance.
- Study the seasons of nature such as flowers and migratory birds.
- Study the route and check with a map and compass before starting the journey.
